- Mindig csak egy megoldást szabad beírni.
- A betűjelek legyenek jól olvashatóak, az esetleges javítások pedig egyértelműek.

- Read this short article on a meteorite impact.
- Your task is to give short answers (maximum four words) to the questions (1-9) that follow.
- Write your answers on the dotted lines.
- There is an example (0) for you.

Space Rock Makes a Crash Landing

A grapefruit-size meteorite crashed through the roof of a house in New Zealand this spring, hit the ceiling, slammed into a couch and rolled under a table.

Experts say the extremely hot rock was traveling about 500 kilometers an hour when it crashed through the roof. Its landing made a terrific explosion.

Astronomer Joel Schiff of the University of Auckland said, "It is most likely a chip off an asteroid and is older than anything else on Earth. "In fact, the meteorite is about 4.5 billion years old. "It is one of the few physical records of the early solar system," Schiff said.

According to experts, the space rock was probably traveling 50,000 kilometers an hour when it reached Earth's atmosphere. The atmosphere slowed it down. Most likely the space rock came to Earth from an asteroid belt located between Mars and Jupiter, some 700 million kilometers away.

Luckily no one was hurt when the meteorite landed, but it could mean money from the heavens for homeowner Brenda Archer. Experts say the space rock—only the ninth known meteorite to land in New Zealand—is probably worth more than U.S. $30,000!

But don't expect to get rich on meteorites. Most space rocks entering the Earth's atmosphere burn up during their journey.

0) When did this crash landing happen?

1) Where did the rock stop in the house?

2) What is the job of the person who believes the rock broke off an asteroid?

3) What is the age of the rock?

4) What reduced the speed of the rock before it hit the house?

5) What distance did the rock travel?

6) How many meteorites have landed in New Zealand that we know about?

7) Who does the house belong to?

8) What is the probable value of the meteorite?

9) What happens to most space rocks when they reach the Earth's atmosphere?

Task 2

- Read this text about Kate's blind date and the sentences (10-16) following it.
- Mark each sentence
  - A if it is true according to the text,
  - B if it is false,

"My best blind date"

"When I turned 30, my grandma, with whom I am very close, became paranoid that I'd never get married, like 30 is over the hill or something. Just to quiet her, I agreed to go out with the grandson of a friend of hers, whom she knew well and claimed was 'a very handsome lawyer.' I, however, was certain he would be a total loser and couldn't believe I agreed to the date. My friends and I joked about it during the weeks leading up to the date, and I had extremely low expectations. When he came to meet me outside my house, I almost fainted; he looked great. During the date I also found out he was very intelligent, well-educated and loves Woody Allen movies as much as I do. We had a great dinner, even better conversation—and there was a definite spark. We kept seeing each other after that, and each date was better than the last. We got engaged about a month ago, and of course my grandma takes all the credit!" – Kate, 30

0)	Kate and her grandmother get on well.	0)	A
10)	Kate's grandmother was afraid that Kate would not be able to find a husband.	10)

- Write the words on the dotted lines as in the example (0).

Driving to the speed limit doesn't necessarily mean you're driving safely

Recently while driving on a residential road near my home the following incident occurred. I was in second gear as I turned into the road and in the normal course of events would have perhaps gone up to third to cruise at 30mph.

It was 3pm and there was a lot of activity as children were coming home from school. On the nearside pavement 60 yards away were three girls, 10 to 12 years old, chatting. I'm not sure what it was that rang alarm bells about those three in particular. Maybe it was the intensity of their conversation and the impression that they didn't appear to be looking around or taking in any other information from their surroundings.

I stayed at 25 mph and moved out as far as I could to the middle of the road. I also placed a finger over the horn and my right heel in front of the brake pedal. As I drew nearer I slowed to 20 mph. When I got within 2 or 3 car lengths from the girls, one turned rapidly, jumped off the pavement and ran across the road. She never looked up or to her right or left – she just went.

I hit the brake and came to a stop about 4 or 5 feet away from her.

What saved her life was not what I was doing at the time, which was applying the brakes − but what I had done 50 yards previously; slowing down, moving out and above all, concentrating on her.

If I had been doing 30 mph that day I could have hit her. I could have claimed legitimately that I wasn't speeding and that it wasn't my fault. The fact that I had slowed to 20 mph guaranteed that whatever she did I could avoid her.

0) The writer describes how he managed to ... avoid ... an accident recently.

24) It was early …… with many children in the street. 24) ____

25) Three girls were busy …… on the pavement. 25) ____

26) The …… moved further away from the side of the road. 26) ____

27) When one girl jumped into the road without looking, the car was moving at a speed of …… . 27) ____

28) When the driver stopped, the distance between the girl and the car was only a few …… . 28) ____

29) The writer stresses that driving safely means more than just keeping the rules and not …… . 29) ____

Task B

You have received a letter from your English penfriend, Jane, in which she writes the following:

> I have a problem at school. My teachers keep on bugging me for using my mobile in the breaks between lessons. I don't understand why! I always switch off during lessons and I NEVER even TALK, just text my friends. They have told my parents about it and said that I seem to be really addicted. Now my mum insists that I should leave my mobile in my locker for the day and not touch it until after school. I'm desperate! What do you think I should do?

Write a letter of 100-120 words to Jane in which you give your opinion. Include the following:

- why you think the use of mobile phones should or shouldn't be allowed at school;
- whether you think Jane is really addicted to mobile phones;
- what you would do if you were Jane.
