Fontos tudnivalók

- Az utasításokat pontosan kell követni. Csak az utasításban megadott helyre beírt megoldás fogadható el.
- Mindig csak egy megoldást szabad beírni.
- A betűjelek legyenek jól olvashatóak, az esetleges javítások pedig egyértelműek.
- A megadott szószámot nem szabad túllépni. Az összevont alakok egy szónak számítanak (pl. "it's" egy szó, "it is" két szó).

A feladatlapban nem jelölt források a javítási-értékelési útmutatóban szerepelnek.

Task 1

- In the following article about technology addiction, seven headings have been removed.
- Your task is to write the letters of the headings (A-I) next to the appropriate numbers (1-6).
- There are two extra headings that you do not need.
- Write the letters in the white boxes as in the example (0).

SIX SIGNS YOU MAY HAVE A TECHNOLOGY ADDICTION

0) _____

As with anything pleasurable that we experience in life (such as eating chocolate or drinking coffee), the brain releases dopamine, the feel-good hormone. Technology use can be addictive: we might see a funny photo on Instagram or achieve a level on a video game, and we simply want more. Here are six signs that you may be consuming too much technology.

1) _____

There is no specific number of hours that is 'safe' for teenagers to use technology. However, they need a balance of experiences in their lives and their leisure time should not be dominated by digital devices.

2) _____

The use of a smartphone while waiting for a bus, doing some fact checking for a school assignment, or even checking your social media sites is not harmful. However, if you cannot sit still anywhere without using a gadget, it may indicate that you have a technology addiction.

3) _____

Can you sustain friendships away from screens? If you would rather chat online than play or talk in person, it might be cause for concern.

4) _____

Many teenagers stay up late playing games or wake early to complete a game. If the sentence "I just need to finish off this level and then I'll switch it off" sounds familiar, you might want to consider limiting your screen time.

5) _____

Don't worry, teenagers need to switch off – it is a healthy part of brain development. In today's society we are constantly entertained or engaged, however, we need to be aware of the fact that boredom and 'quietness' are beneficial for us.

6) _____

If traditional activities that you were once keen on have been overtaken by digital devices and games, you might consider switching the devices off.

A) Do you spend vast amounts of time engaged with technology?

0)	C

B) Do you often feel that you are 'bored' when not using digital devices?

1)

~~C) Are we "addicted" to technology?~~

D) When you need help, do you turn to online advice pages instead of people they know?

2)

E) Do you withdraw from face-to-face social situations in preference for using digital devices?

3)

F) Do you tend to withdraw from activities you previously enjoyed?

4)

G) Do you feel you are constantly preoccupied with technology?

5)

H) Do you have trouble making a difference between what you experienced online and what happened to you in real life?

6)

I) Do you tend to get less than enough sleep?

6 pont

Task 2

- Read this article about test anxiety, where sentences have been removed.
- Your task is to reconstruct the text by filling in the gaps (7-12) from the list (A-I) below.
- Write the letters in the white boxes next to the numbers as in the example (0).
- There are two extra letters that you do not need.

TEST ANXIETY AND WHAT IS BEHIND IT

You've done all your homework and studied hard, you think you are well-prepared. (0) _____ . Suddenly, you blank out, freeze up, zone out, or feel so nervous that you can't respond to the questions you knew the answers to just last night. If this sounds like you, you may have a case of test anxiety — that nervous feeling that people sometimes get when they're about to take a test.

It's normal to feel a little nervous and stressed before a test. (7) _____ . A little nervous anticipation can even help you do better on a test. But for some people, test anxiety is more intense. (8) _____ .

Test anxiety is a type of performance anxiety — a feeling someone might have in a situation where performance really counts, for example before singing a solo on stage, getting ready for a running race, or taking a final exam.

(9) _____ . Some people might feel shaky or sweaty, or feel their heart beating quickly as they wait for the test to be given out. Some may even feel like they might pass out or throw up.

All types of anxiety are a reaction to something stressful that we know is coming. Like other anxiety reactions, test anxiety affects both the body and the mind. (10) _____ . That's what causes the physical symptoms, such as sweating, a pounding heart, and rapid breathing.

Focusing on the bad things that could happen can also fuel test anxiety. For example, someone worrying about doing poorly might have thoughts like, "What if I forget everything I know?" or "What if the test is too hard?" (11) _____ .

People who worry a lot or who are perfectionists are more likely to have trouble with test anxiety. (12) _____ . In this way, even without meaning to, they might really pressure themselves.

0)	C

A) When you're under stress, your body releases the hormone ‘adrenaline’, which prepares it for danger.

B) Those with such traits sometimes find it hard to accept mistakes they might make or to get anything less than a perfect score.

C) ~~But then the day of the test comes.~~

D) The nervousness they feel before a test can be so strong that it interferes with their concentration or performance.

E) Just about everyone does.

F) People suffering from test anxiety can easily learn how to cope with this feeling.

G) Like other situations in which a person might feel performance anxiety, test anxiety can cause nausea, a stomach ache, or a headache.

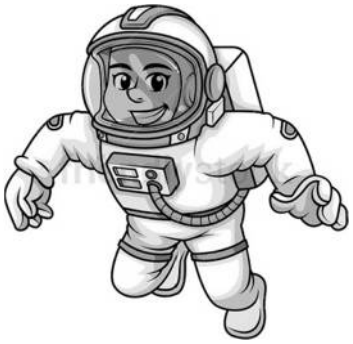

H) Too many thoughts like these leave no mental space for focusing on the test questions.

I) In case of severe test anxiety, it is advisable to do yoga or other forms of relaxing activities before taking the test.

Task 3

- Read this article about life in space and then read the statements (13-20) following it.
- Your task is to decide whether the statements are true or not.
- Mark a statement A if it is true according to the article.
- Mark it B if it is false according to the article.
- Mark it C if there is not enough information in the text to decide if the sentence is true or not.
- An example has been given for you.
- A = TRUE B = FALSE C = THE TEXT DOES NOT SAY

HOW TO SURVIVE IN SPACE

Firstly, whether it's a suit that fits around your body or a larger vehicle that gives you some freedom of movement, you need a spaceship if you're going into space. Humans can only survive for about 15 seconds in the vacuum of space without a protective shell, and even if they could survive longer, they would quickly receive a fatal dose of radiation from the sun.

An efficient spaceship like the International Space Station (ISS) reuses 93 percent of the wastewater generated by its occupants, converting it into either clean water or oxygen. All the more important as every astronaut needs a personal supply of water. It is a fundamental necessity, not only to keep the body alive, but to keep it clean, and it's an essential additive for the foods that accompany astronauts into space, which are all stored in a dried state. Preferred space foods are those that don't crumble – weightless crumbs get in everyone's way and can harm instruments. Astronauts need to follow a balanced diet, and because weightlessness dulls the sense of taste, most prefer spicy meals.

Personal hygiene is just as important in space as it is on Earth; astronauts can take showers, but they usually do it with a sponge to preserve supplies. In addition, they use soap and shampoo that work without water. In order to stay fit and fight the weakening effect of weightlessness on the leg and lower back muscles, anyone going to space for an extended period has a greater than usual need of some sort of gym equipment; otherwise, even the simplest activities would become extremely exhausting after you return home from a space mission.

If musical instruments aren't on your A-list of space supplies, then think again. Scientists have found that music has a key role in maintaining a sense of normalcy and mental balance, and the ISS astronauts have a range of instruments available for jamming and recording in space. And while you may well be able to entertain yourself by watching water droplets float around in the zero-gravity environment, there is no substitute for that collection of books and CDs you packed.

0) Astronauts need protective gear to survive in space.	0)	A
13) The vacuum of space does not immediately kill a person without any protection.	13)
14) Cleaning used water on the ISS requires a significant amount of energy.	14)
15) Without a supply of water, astronauts would not be able to eat.	15)
16) Typically, astronauts want stronger flavours in their food in space.	16)
17) Most astronauts lose weight during the period they spend in space.	17)
18) Due to weightlessness, regular exercise is less important in space than on Earth.	18)
19) Astronauts on the same mission often play music together.	19)
20) The wonders of space provide astronauts with better entertainment than regular free-time activities back on Earth.	20)

CHRISTMAS KINDNESS

Christmas is a time of giving, and that's exactly (0) _____ during the festive season. Just a few weeks before the holidays, Massachusetts police officer Matt Lima received a call about shoplifting at a food store in Somerset.

As soon as he arrived at the store, he spoke to a staff member (21) _____ were not scanning all their groceries before putting them into shopping bags at the self-checkout.

When they were questioned a few minutes later in the storekeeper's office, the women said (22) _____ . They had attempted to take additional food items they couldn't pay for because they were desperate to make a proper Christmas dinner for their children.

When he heard about the details of the family's situation, the officer decided to temporarily ban them from the store but did not press charges (23) _____ . Not only that, but Lieutenant Lima then went on to buy the women gift cards worth $250 with his own money so they could purchase groceries for their dinner at another store.

"The two children with the women reminded me of my kids, (24) _____ . They were very thankful… and they were kind of shocked. I'm sure a lot of people in that same situation would be thinking (25) _____ , and maybe they would be arrested or have to go to court," Lima told media outlet Massachusetts Today.

When a report about the case reached Police Chief George McNeil, he said the incident was a true testament of Lima's great character. "His actions exemplify (26) _____ . When faced with a difficult situation (27) _____ , he made the generous decision to not press charges and instead ensured that they would have a Christmas dinner they could enjoy."

0)	C

A) so I had to help them out

B) where a family was trying to provide a meal for their kids

C) ~~what a US police officer did to help a family in need~~

D) that they were going through some very rough times

E) where the family had moved only very recently

F) what it means to protect and serve the members of our community

G) so the children had to go without hot food for over a week

H) who told him two women with two young children

I) as generous acts like this tend to attract significant media attention

K) as all the items on the receipt were for food

L) that there was going to be a different outcome

US ENDS ERA OF EMOTIONAL SUPPORT ANIMALS ON PLANES

US airlines will no (0) _____ (long) be required to transport emotional support animals after passengers insisted on bringing on board their horses, pigs, peacocks and turkeys for (1) _____ (psychology) reasons. Wednesday's rule change by the US Department of Transportation now says only dogs (2) _____ (qualify) as support or service animals. The new rule defines such dogs as "individually trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of a person with a disability", and says other animals should be treated by airlines as pets that can be placed in the cargo hold for a fee.

Previously, the federal government had no law (3) _____ (regard) emotional support animals. Due to state-level regulations, emotional support animals, (4) _____ (like) pets, were allowed to travel for free. Airlines were required to accommodate them in the cabin despite (5) _____ (complain) from passengers. There have been several incidents of misbehaving animals causing (6) _____ (injure) to passengers and flights crews. Some of those incidents have led to lawsuits.

"The Department of Transportation's final rule will protect the travelling public and airline crewmembers from (7) _____ (train) animals in the cabin," Airlines for America President Nicholas E. Eternal Flame Falls continues to surprise geologists with its continuous flame.

The waterfall itself, part of Chestnut Ridge Park, is not very (11) _____ . At the base of the waterfall, (12) _____ , there is a small cave. Natural gas seeps through a crack in the rock, fuelling the eternal flame, (13) _____ shines brightly through the water. The heat breaks down the carbon molecules in the rock, releasing natural gas. But at Eternal Flame Falls, the rock beneath the flame is much cooler. (17) _____ , the gas keeps coming.

Geologists are researching the natural processes at work at Eternal Flame Falls. They believe that if they understand (18) _____ the gas is released at cooler temperatures, it will help them to find ways to extract natural gas from the rock in a safe and non-invasive way.

NO CONNECTION

For 18 months, residents of a village in Wales have been mystified as to (0) _____ their broadband internet crashed every morning.

Now engineers have finally identified the reason: a second-hand television that gave off a signal (19) _____ broke the connection. A team of engineers have become heroes in the village of Aberhosan after finally finding the source of the problem, according to an announcement from Openreach, the company that runs the UK's digital network.

Earlier, local experts (20) _____ visited the village several times and found no fault with the network. They even replaced cables in the area to try and solve the problem, but with (21) _____ success at all.

Then local engineer Michael Jones called in assistance from experts at the Openreach chief engineer team. After (22) _____ out numerous tests, engineers had a theory that the problem could be caused by an episode called “single high-level impulse noise” (SHINE), in (23) _____ an appliance produces electrical interference that has an impact on broadband connections. Engineers used a special device and walked up and down the village at 6 a.m. to see (24) _____ they could locate an electrical noise.

At 7 a.m. the device picked up a large burst of electrical noise coming from a property in the village. It turned out that at 7 a.m. every morning the occupant switched on their old TV, which (25) _____ turn knocked out broadband for the entire village.

Since the old TV was retired, (26) _____ have been no more problems with the connection, said Openreach.

SMART DOG COLLAR

A South Korean startup has developed an AI-powered dog collar that

0) can detect five emotions in the dogs by monitoring their barks using
0) voice recognition technology. The Petpuls collar can tell pet owners
27) through a smartphone application as if their dogs are happy, relaxed,

Welcome to the Listening component of the Matura Examination.

The listening material and the instructions are recorded on this CD, and the tasks and instructions are printed in your test booklet.

- There will be three tasks, and every recording will be played twice.
- The tasks will begin with some music, and then you will hear (and you can also read) the instructions to the task.
- This will be followed by a silent period on the CD in order to give you some time to look at the task in your test booklet before hearing the text.
- Then we will play the recording in one piece.
- After that, we will play the recording for the second time, but now in shorter sections and with breaks between the sections in order to give you enough time to write down your answers.

Please note that the first item in each task (marked with a tick [✓]) is always an example.

The whole test is exactly 30 minutes long.

Good luck!

- In this section you will hear an interesting story about an engagement ring.
- Your task will be to write the letter of the correct answer in the boxes on the right.
- First, you will have some time to look at the task, and then we will play the whole recording in one piece.
- Then, after a short pause, you will hear the recording again, but this time we will play the text in shorter sections to give you enough time to write down your answers.

Task 2

You have read the following post on the internet forum Generation Gap:

> So, the thing is this. Ever since I was 11 or so, I've had a big passion for computer games. At that time, we were relatively poor since my parents had divorced and my mother had problems with money. It had been like this for a long time until earlier this year when my mother got married for the second time. My stepfather is a rather rich dude who just lets her use his credit card and never asks questions about her spending.
>
> So, you know, as my 17th bday is in a couple of weeks and she has the money, I told her I'd really like a gamer laptop as a gift. She has been promising for more than a year to me that as soon as she was able economically, she would buy me a really good laptop. However, when I showed her in the catalogue which model I had in mind she came up with the lamest excuses ever, such as a €1000 gift for a teen is too much and stuff like that.
>
> I don't want to appear ungrateful for what I have but I've been "dreaming" of this for like 6 years, and now she has the money, so I can't see the reason why she should refuse my request just like that.
>
> What do you think I could do to make her change her mind? I'm even considering turning to my stepfather directly as we are on very good terms. Do you think it's a good idea?
>
