Fontos tudnivalók

- Az utasításokat pontosan kell követni. Csak az utasításban megadott helyre beírt megoldás fogadható el.
- Mindig csak egy megoldást szabad beírni.
- A betűjelek legyenek jól olvashatóak, az esetleges javítások pedig egyértelműek.
- A megadott szószámot nem szabad túllépni. Az összevont alakok egy szónak számítanak (pl. "it's" egy szó, "it is" két szó).

A feladatlapban nem jelölt források a javítási-értékelési útmutatóban szerepelnek.

Task 1

- Read the following questions and answers from the website of a library. The questions have been removed.
- Your task is to write the letters of the questions (A-M) next to the appropriate numbers (1- 9).
- There are two extra questions that you do not need.
- Write the letters in the white boxes as in the example (0).

Task 2

- Read this article about providing internet service to mountain climbers.
- Some sentences have been left out from the text.
- Your task is to reconstruct the text by filling in the gaps (10-15) from the list (A-I) below.
- Write the letters in the white boxes next to the numbers as in the example (0).
- Remember that there are two extra letters that you do not need.

MOUNT KILIMANJARO GETS INTERNET SERVICE

At 5,895 meters, Mount Kilimanjaro is the highest mountain in Africa. (0) _____ It rises out of a large, flat area in Tanzania and Kenya. The mountain is part of Kilimanjaro National Park, which has around 50,000 visitors each year. (10) _____ But climbing Africa's tallest mountain isn't easy. It has snowy glaciers surrounding its peak. (11) _____

The government of Tanzania has recently set up a high-speed internet service on the mountain to make it easier for climbers to reach the top. They'll be able to use the internet to check the weather and use navigation tools. (12) _____

The government says safety is the main reason for setting up the internet service on the mountain. (13) _____ Having people post selfies on social media as they work their way up the tallest mountain could certainly make the spot even more popular with visitors. Residents in Tanzania, however, are upset that the government is focusing on tourists instead of helping the people who live in the country. (14) _____

Also with tourists in mind, last year the Tanzanian government approved a $72 million project to build a cable car on Mount Kilimanjaro to allow tourists who weren't climbers to enjoy the mountain. (15) _____ It also bothered people who were worried about how the construction might affect the environment on the mountain. They point out that as a World Heritage site, Mount Kilimanjaro is a place which is important to protect.

0)	C

A) As an added bonus, the tourist industry may benefit as well.

B) But the plan caused anger among climbers and expedition guides.

~~C) It's also the world's tallest mountain that's not part of a mountain range.~~

D) They'll also be able to call for help if they need it.

E) Scientists believe global warming is responsible for the loss of ice.

F) They became the first recorded European climbers to reach Kilimanjaro's summit in 1889.

G) Roughly one third of the people who try to climb it finally give up.

H) Most of them are trying to climb Mount Kilimanjaro.

I) Only about 83% of the population in Tanzania can get cell phone service where they live.

CHOOSE YOUR ADVENTURE

If you're looking for a fun afternoon with friends, book one of our escape rooms. Here are the missions for your team to choose from.

The Yellow Room: Spies must be removed from the ministry of wizards where you work. You have one hour to undertake a trial of magic to prove that you are true wizards.

The Pink Room: You find yourselves on a mysterious island, home to strange animals and magical plants. You'll need to solve puzzles, unlock portals and find your way back to the real world.

The Green Room: Going on holiday overseas, your plane has crashed and now you're all stuck on a small island in the Pacific Ocean. With the weather getting worse, you need a place to hide until the rescue team finds you. You have 45 minutes to build a shelter.

The Grey Room: The secret service has been working on locating and removing threats from the city centre. As a team of experts, you must find the last bomb at the top of a tower block and save the city.

The Black Room: Enter a mystical cave and navigate your way in the dark to find the magic lamp without being trapped forever. The cave is full of puzzles designed to guard the powerful lamp.

The Blue Room: Step into 1942, when the world is at war. As MI6's top agents you've been chosen to discover the location of the enemy's superweapons, destroy them and save Britain.

The Red Room: The mystery takes place at a research laboratory, where a professor has been killed by one of his colleagues. You and your team are detectives who are invited to solve the case and find the criminal.

SCIENTISTS LEARN THAT DOGS CAN SMELL STRESS

Scientists ran an experiment which showed that dogs can tell the difference between the smell of a person when they're relaxed and when they're stressed.

Researchers at Queen's University Belfast worked with four dogs and 36 humans. The dogs included in the study were pets, volunteered by their owners. First, researchers taught the dogs to use a special smell-testing device. Then, they collected sweat and breath samples from the human participants under two different conditions: in a non-stressful and a stressful situation. When people were calm, their blood pressure and heart rates were measured and then they were asked to wipe their skin with a clean piece of cloth. Then they had to put the cloth sample in a tube and breathe on it hard three times.

The study team then collected another round of breath and sweat samples a few minutes later, after the people had completed a difficult maths task, counting backward in their heads from 9,000 in units of 17 in front of two researchers for three minutes. The researchers kept telling the people to hurry up. After the task the participants reported feeling stressed, and their blood pressure and heart rate had gone up.

Then the dogs were given a relaxed and a stressed sample from each person. The dogs correctly identified the stressed sample in 94% of 720 tests.

The study provides evidence that dogs can smell stress from breath and sweat. Researchers say the skill could be useful when training therapy dogs.

0) Four universities took part in the research.

22) The experiment involved police dogs.

23) Sweat and breath samples were collected from students.

24) In the experiment the dogs smelled the participants' clothes.

25) The relaxed and stressed samples were taken on the same day.

26) The stressful task lasted for three minutes.

27) Each dog was given three samples to choose from.

28) The study was published in an international journal.

Welcome to the Listening component of the Matura Examination.

The listening material and the instructions are recorded on this CD, and the tasks and instructions are printed in your test booklet.

- There will be three tasks, and every recording will be played twice.
- The tasks will begin with some music, and then you will hear (and you can also read) the instructions to the task.
- This will be followed by a silent period on the CD in order to give you some time to look at the task in your test booklet before hearing the text.
- Then we will play the recording in one piece.
- After another short silent period, we will play the recording for the second time, but now in shorter sections and with breaks between the sections in order to give you enough time to write down your answers.

Please note that the first item in each task (marked with a tick [✓]) is always an example.

The whole test is exactly 30 minutes long.

Good luck!

Task 2

You have come across the following post on a problem page.

My boyfriend and I have been together for almost three months. Everything went fine until last week, when he invited me to meet his parents on his birthday. I had never been to his house before and was really nervous about meeting his parents for the first time. They turned out to be lovely people; kind and generous hosts, and we got along really well, but – and here comes my problem – I have a real issue with their kitchen hygiene and have no idea what I can do about it or how to bring it up, if at all...

Here's the thing: they have three cats and treat them almost like children - I have no issue with that by the way, I'm a cat person myself, but they let them climb all over all the kitchen surfaces while they're cooking. I've seen them pet the cats while they're cooking, including letting the cats lick their hands and stick their faces in the food, and then carry right on without even washing their hands. There was a lot of cat hair all over the kitchen and the dining table, and the cats were allowed to jump on the table and sniff around during the birthday dinner, as well. I know every family has different rules about pets in their home, but this seems off to me and the things I've mentioned really gross me out.

I have no idea what to do about any of this. For my boyfriend it seemed completely normal, and I don't even know how to bring this up. What shall I do?

Eliza, 17

Write a comment of 100-120 words to Eliza in which you write about

- whether you have ever been in a similar situation,
- what you think about pets and hygiene in the household,
- how to handle uncomfortable situations in a relationship, and
- what she should do in your opinion.

Begin your comment like this:
