Fontos tudnivalók

- Az utasításokat pontosan kell követni. Csak az utasításban megadott helyre beírt megoldás fogadható el.
- Mindig csak egy megoldást szabad beírni.
- A betűjelek legyenek jól olvashatóak, az esetleges javítások pedig egyértelműek.
- A megadott szószámot nem szabad túllépni. Az összevont alakok egy szónak számítanak (pl. "it's" egy szó, "it is" két szó).

A feladatlapban nem jelölt források a javítási-értékelési útmutatóban szerepelnek.

Task 1

- In the following text about using a dishwasher, the first sentence of each paragraph has been removed.
- Your task is to match the sentences to the paragraphs.
- Write the letters of the sentences (A-I) next to the appropriate numbers (1-6).
- There are two extra sentences that you do not need.
- Write the letters in the white boxes as in the example (0).

HOW TO PROPERLY LOAD A DISHWASHER

0) _____ . If you still remember your parents' reaction when stacking your plate in the dishwasher without rinsing it first, we can now offer some facts in your defence. Here's what experts say to solve your family washing-up conflicts.

1) _____ . Most dishwashers have inbuilt sensors that measure how much dirt is in the water from the first cycle. Rinsed plates may fool the system, and your dishwasher's going to think that your plates are cleaner than they actually are, so it won't wash as intensely, and they might actually come out dirtier.

2) _____ . Remember to stack the dirtiest items on the lower shelf and the cleaner items above. This is also why your bowls, containers and cutlery should face down.

3) _____ . During the final rinse cycle, a heat load is built up on the dishes, and then it just sits there for a while and the moisture will evaporate. The more the dishes, the more the heat, the better the result.

4) _____ . You really don't want to get it on your hands. Dishwashers need aggressive chemicals to get the job done without mechanical scrubbing. Many materials, however, won't survive a high-pH hurricane every night, so anything that is older than the dishwasher, like grandma's china, shouldn't go in one.

5) _____ . The same goes for wood, bone, copper, non-stick coated pans and trays. Anything laminated can be twisted out of shape; anything glued can come apart; chefs' knives will rust and dull.

6) _____ . A dishwasher can clean 144 items with roughly 13 litres of water. Hand washing the same load uses, on average, 100 litres of water. Most of the energy that goes into running your dishwasher is actually heating the water, and it's the same for hand washing, so much less water in dishwashing means much less energy.

0)	C

A) The dishwasher detergent works best in soft water, so salt can help you get better cleaning.

B) The most powerful jets in a dishwasher shoot upwards from the bottom.

~~C)~~ ~~The misinformation around a machine that's meant to make our lives easier has caused generations-long fights.~~

D) Depending on how many washes you do, you might have to fill up the rinse aid every few weeks.

E) A full dishwasher dries better than a half-full dishwasher.

F) Anything fragile, handmade or hand-painted should be left out.

G) The dishwasher detergent is pretty nasty stuff.

H) You do not need to pre-rinse, just scrape the solids into the bin.

I) Despite all the warnings, dishwashers are not only the convenient answer to our modernist needs, they're actually more economical than hand washing.

Task 2

- Read this article about climate anxiety, then read the statements (7-14) following it.
- Mark a sentence A if it is true according to the article.
- Mark it B if it is false.
- Mark it C if there isn't enough information in the text to decide if the sentence is true or not.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CLIMATE ANXIETY REVEALED IN LANDMARK SURVEY

Climate change is causing distress, anger or even anxiety in teenagers and young people worldwide, a survey of thousands of 16- to 25-year-olds has found.

"This study provides arguments for adults that climate change plays an important role in young people's mental health," says Sarah Ray, who studies climate anxiety at Humboldt State University in Arcata, California. The survey — the largest of its kind — asked 10,000 young people in 10 countries how they felt about climate change and government responses to it.

The results, released in September 2021, found that most respondents were concerned about climate change, with nearly 60% saying they felt 'very worried' or 'extremely worried'. Many associated negative emotions with climate change — the most commonly chosen were 'sad', 'afraid', 'anxious', 'angry' and 'powerless'. Overall, 45% of participants said their feelings about climate change impacted their daily lives.

The countries with the highest proportion of respondents who felt 'very worried' or 'extremely worried' by climate change were the Philippines (84%), India (68%) and Brazil (67%), nations that have been hard-hit by climate change. Portugal — where wildfires are becoming increasingly severe — also had a high level of 'very worried' or 'extremely worried' respondents (65%).

Among those who said they have talked to others about climate change (81%), nearly half reported being ignored. "There seems to be a dismissal of young people's opinions in society," says study co-author Caroline Hickman, a climate-psychology researcher at the University of Bath, UK. Until now, there has been little research on the psychological impacts of climate change on young people, she adds.

When asked about how governments are responding to climate change, 65% of respondents agreed with the statement that governments are failing young people, 64% agreed that they are lying about the impact of actions taken and 60% agreed they were dismissing people's distress. Only 36% agreed that governments are acting according to science. However, young people do feel reassured when governments act.

"I think this research will impact more audiences than other arguments about why we should do more on climate," Ray says.

0) Climate change has a negative emotional impact on young people.

0)	A

7) Several surveys are being carried out parallelly right now.

8) In each country, 1,000 young people were asked to take part in the survey.

9) The majority of participants find climate change concerning.

10) More than half of the respondents said that climate change had a direct effect on their everyday lives.

11) There is no connection between the extent to which a country is impacted by climate change and the attitude of its residents.

12) Young people's views are often neglected.

13) How young people feel about climate change is widely researched.

14) Although young people appreciate when governments step up, most of them are dissatisfied with their attitude to climate change.

WHAT HAPPENS TO YOUR BRAIN WHEN YOU GIVE UP SUGAR

Sugar consumption in developed countries has been steadily (0) _____ . This could be happening for a number of reasons, such as a shift in tastes and lifestyles, with the popularity of low-carbohydrate diets increasing in the past decade. A greater (15) _____ of eating too much sugar on our health may also be among the reasons.

Reducing sugar intake has clear health benefits, (16) _____ , which can help with weight loss and improved dental health. But people sometimes report negative side effects when they try to eat less sugar, like (17) _____ . The reason for these side effects is currently poorly understood. But it's likely these symptoms relate to how the brain reacts when exposed to sugary foods.

As mass production of food has become the norm, sugar is now (18) _____ to make them more tasty. However, sugar has profound biological effects in the brain. It activates sweet taste receptors in the mouth, which leads to the release of a chemical called dopamine in the brain – also known as the "feel-good" hormone.

It's obvious that sugar can have a powerful effect on us. That's why it's not (19) _____ when we eat less sugar or remove it from our diet completely. It's during this early "sugar withdrawal" stage that both mental and physical symptoms have been reported – including depression, anxiety, headaches, and dizziness. That's why (20) _____ , which may make it difficult for some to stick with the diet change.

If you want to reduce sugar from your diet long term, (21) _____ the first few difficult weeks is crucial. It's important to also acknowledge, however, that sugar isn't "bad" in itself – but that it should be eaten in moderation alongside a healthy diet. And that with any dietary change, (22) _____ .

A) being added to foods

B) sticking to it is key

~~C) decreasing over the past decade~~

D) giving up sugar can feel unpleasant

E) having a sweet tooth

F) surprising to see negative effects

G) studying the effects of quitting sugar altogether

H) understanding of the dangers

I) being able to get through

K) including reduced calorie intake

L) experiencing headaches, fatigue or mood changes

HOW WE RE-DELIVERED A BABY'S POSTCARD – 75 YEARS ON

Stu Prince fell seriously ill in 2019, and during his recovery, he knew he needed a distraction that would keep him occupied.

(0) _____

"I thought these were fantastic. They're all different, and they're all somebody's ancestor," he says. Sometimes the postcards would function like modern-day text messages - thanking their hosts for Sunday dinner, or letting a relative know they would be passing round the next day.

(23) _____

He'd always been interested in family histories, and a thought occurred to him. What if he could help trace the owners of the postcards and their relatives and reunite them?

(24) _____

One of them had been sent in 1946, but it still looked bright and colourful. On its front was a cartoon of a rabbit asleep in a crib underneath the heading: "You're one today."

(25) _____

Soon after posting the picture of the postcard, Stu received an email saying, ”That card is me, the baby is me.”

(26) _____

The card brought back memories of distant times and she was thrilled to get it. ”It's amazing, this card has just travelled through time!” she says.

(27) _____

A) It was written by Frimette Carr, who had been contacted by people in Stu's Facebook group who recognised her grandparents' name and the address on the postcard.

0)	C

B) Soon after this, he decided to delete the Facebook group and never to engage in an activity like this again.

23)

~~C) Then one day while browsing the web looking at old letters and possessions for sale, he came across a bunch of old postcards on eBay, dating as far back as 1900.~~

24)

D) On the reverse was a stamp, an address, and a neatly written message, too. "To our loving granddaughter," it read, "wishing you many returns of the day. And may your future be a happy and peaceful one."

25)

E) Other times, they would be more profound notes between loved ones.

F) Stu Prince is really proud of what he has achieved. "I feel grateful for being able to reunite people with their past and let them have something they can cherish and hold on to that belonged to their ancestors."

26)

G) Stuart was encouraged by his wife Daphne to dig deeper.

27)

H) It was then that Stu set up a Facebook group, named Reuniting Postcards With Families. By then he had over 2,000 postcards to find the owners of.

ORIGINS OF THE US DOLLAR

In 1516, vast (0) _____ (quantity) of silver were discovered in the mountains (9) _____ (separate) modern-day Bohemia and Saxony. Local nobleman Count Hieronymus Schlick christened the area Joachimsthal ("Joachim's valley") after Jesus's grandfather, the local patron saint of miners. At the time, Europe was a continent of city-states with local rulers competing for power. One of the most effective ways rulers could (10) _____ (strong) their control was to mint their own currency.

Schlick was granted permission to mint his silver coins in January 1520. He (11) _____ (stamp) an image of Joachim on the front and the Bohemian lion on the back and named his new currency "Joachimsthalers" – which soon became shortened to "thalers". Schlick did two smart things to (12) _____ (sure) the thalers' spread and survival. First, he made the thaler the same weight and diameter as the coin (13) _____ (use) throughout central Europe, which made it easier for neighbouring (14) _____ (king) to accept it. Secondly, he minted more coins than the world had ever seen. By 1550, 12 million thalers had spread across Europe.

Joachimsthal's mines soon ran dry, but by 1566, the thaler was so well known across Europe that many rulers began remodelling their coins after it. They also renamed them in their own languages. It was the Dutch leeuwendaler ("lion daler") that gave the US currency its name. After (15) _____ (arrive) in New Amsterdam in the 17th century with Dutch colonists, the dalers quickly spread throughout the colonies and English-speaking (16) _____ (settle) started calling them "dollars". The dollar became the official currency of the US in 1792.

Welcome to the Listening component of the Matura Examination.

The listening material and the instructions are recorded on this CD, and the tasks and instructions are printed in your test booklet.

- There will be three tasks, and every recording will be played twice.
- The tasks will begin with some music, and then you will hear (and you can also read) the instructions to the task.
- This will be followed by a silent period on the CD in order to give you some time to look at the task in your test booklet before hearing the text.
- Then we will play the recording in one piece.
- After that, we will play the recording for the second time, but now in shorter sections and with breaks between the sections in order to give you enough time to write down your answers.

Please note that the first item in each task (marked with a tick [✓]) is always an example.

The whole test is exactly 30 minutes long.

Good luck!

TASK 1

- In this section, you will hear some information about one of the most famous photographs ever taken.

Fontos tudnivalók

Mindkét feladatot meg kell írni!
A pontozott sorokra kell írni!
Ügyeljen a megadott szószámra! Amennyiben a létrehozott szöveg jelentősen eltér (rövidebb, hosszabb) a megadott szóintervallumtól, az pontlevonással jár.

A feladatlapban nem jelölt források a javítási-értékelési útmutatóban szerepelnek.

Task 1

You have come across the following advertisement on the Internet:

Online classes at The Jamie Oliver Cookery School

Hey lovely people! We at The Jamie Oliver Cookery School have moved our cooking classes online! Discover a specific cuisine and pick up useful tips from our amazing chefs – just from the comfort of your own kitchen.

Book onto one of our live, interactive, two-hour digital classes, and we'll send you a recipe card with a shopping list, so you can be ready to go when you log into the session via Zoom.

During the class, our helpful English-speaking chefs will walk you through the recipe steps and cook along with you, answering any questions you may have. You'll be sharing the session with a handful of other food lovers, so prepare yourself for a great experience.

ITALIAN FAVOURITES: Create your very own Italian feast and master the foundations of this wonderful cuisine in this two-hour class.
THE ULTIMATE BURGER: Recreate burger perfection at home, complete with mustard, melty cheese, homemade sauce, and super-speedy pickled onions.
BREAD BAKING: Fill your house with the smell of fresh bread as our chefs guide you through the basics of bread baking.

So what are you waiting for? Choose the session that makes your mouth water and book now! Write to Adam at adam@jamiescookeryschool.com.

Write an email of 120-150 words to Adam in which you

- introduce yourself briefly and write about your previous cooking experience, if any,
- choose a class and say why you're interested in it,
- ask about the price of the class and the equipment needed.

Task 2

You found the following post on the internet forum Take the Challenge:

Emma U.K.

Have you heard about the 100-day challenge devised by the US brand Wool&? They produce simple, sustainably sourced merino wool dresses called Rowena, Ellie and other common names. The basic idea is that women who wear the same dress for 100 days and document it with daily pictures get a voucher for a new one.

I got the idea from my friend Eby in Oregon, who is on day 58 with her grey Fiona dress (I only saw photos of her wearing it on Instagram). She had decided to take part in the challenge because she completely agreed with the brand's mission statement – "live simply, consume carefully, do good" – and encouraged me to sign up too.

I quite like the idea of living a simpler life in general; the pandemic showed us that it was possible to survive without a lot of things we had thought of as essential. You also have to be creative to be able to do more with less, so it could even be fun. (Or, as guys manage perfectly with a pair of jeans and a T-shirt for ever and ever, no special challenge there, haha?)

Anyway, I'm more for it than not but can't make up my mind; I'd appreciate your opinion. Do you think I should give it a try? Would you? Or your girlfriend?

Write a comment of 200-250 words in which you tell her

- whether you agree with the mission statement of the brand,
- whether you think it's a real challenge worth trying for anyone,
- what problems -if any- you think wearing the same dress for 100 days might cause,
- whether she should take part in the challenge and why/ why not.
