Fontos tudnivalók

- Az utasításokat pontosan kell követni. Csak az utasításban megadott helyre beírt megoldás fogadható el.
- Mindig csak egy megoldást szabad beírni.
- A betűjelek legyenek jól olvashatóak, az esetleges javítások pedig egyértelműek.
- A megadott szószámot nem szabad túllépni. Az összevont alakok egy szónak számítanak (pl. "it's" egy szó, "it is" két szó).

A feladatlapban nem jelölt források a javítási-értékelési útmutatóban szerepelnek.

Task 1

- Read the following questions and answers from a website. The questions have been removed.
- Your task is to write the letters of the questions (A-K) next to the appropriate numbers (1- 7).
- There are two extra questions that you do not need.
- Write the letters in the white boxes as in the example (0).

FRANCE BANS THROWAWAY FAST-FOOD CONTAINERS

Large fast-food chains in France will no longer be able to give eat-in customers their food in throwaway boxes and (0) _____ . Under the new law, restaurants that can seat 20 people or more will have to provide reusable plates, (8) _____ .

The new system has recently been introduced with the aim of reducing the amount of (9) _____ . This isn't the first regulation like this in the country. Last year, a ban on single-use plastic packaging for more than (10) _____ came into effect.

It's reported that around six billion meals are served in 30,000 fast food restaurants in France, which generates (11) _____ . Under the new anti-waste law, restaurants and cafes will have to serve eat-in burgers and sandwiches wrapped in paper instead of boxes. Every other food item, like nuggets, cakes, or ice creams will have to be handed over on (12) _____ and cups, which will be washed and used again.

Restaurants had nearly three years to prepare – but critics say the law will put pressure on the food business that still does not have the (13) _____ for reusable plates and containers.

There are also environmental concerns that restaurants will replace paper with (14) _____ instead of glass or ceramic dishes that last years. Hard plastic isn't strong enough for several washes over time and environmental groups are concerned that it will be thrown away after a few washes.

But as the ban only applies to people eating in, takeaway customers will continue to receive their (15) _____ .

Zero Waste France and other environmental groups have asked customers to stay away from places where the new law is not being followed.

DEALING WITH EXAM STRESS

Exams can feel like a lot of pressure. You might be putting pressure on yourself because you need certain grades for a course or job. Or your parents or teachers might be putting pressure on you. (0) _____

When we feel anxious, we can start thinking things like 'I can't do this' and 'I'm going to fail'. (16) _____ For example, reminding yourself of a successful exam will help you feel more confident about an upcoming one. Visualizing a positive experience will also help you manage your nerves. (17) _____ Picturing yourself doing well has been found more effective at reducing anxiety than telling yourself you will do well.

It is important to focus on yourself. (18) _____ This is stressful and increases the fear of failure. On the other hand, focusing on yourself and what you can control will increase confidence.

A little exam stress may be helpful because it can make you work harder. (19) _____ Stress might be affecting you if you're struggling to sleep, getting headaches or feeling unwell a lot. Another sign might be not eating because of how you're feeling.

Exam stress affects everyone differently, but if you're worried, you don't have to cope alone. (20) _____ Talking about how you're feeling, however, can reduce the pressure and help you to feel more in control.

And don't forget that getting a good night's sleep will help you achieve the right mindset before a big event.

| | |
|---|---|
| 0) | C |

A) Competing with your friends can help to keep you motivated.

B) It can be difficult but try to replace these with positive thoughts.

~~C) No matter where the pressure is coming from, there are ways to help you cope.~~

D) But too much of it may have a negative effect on you and make it hard to cope.

E) Imagination works better than words.

F) When you compare yourself to others, your confidence depends on people around you, and is not within your control.

G) Plan when you're going to start and finish your revision, so you know when to stop.

H) Bottling up stress and trying to deal with it on your own can often make it worse.

MISSING DARWIN NOTEBOOKS RETURNED AFTER 20 YEARS

Twenty years ago, two notebooks, written by 19th-century scientist Charles Darwin, mysteriously disappeared from the Cambridge University Library. The stolen notebooks, which had been missing for over 20 years, have finally been secretly returned.

Darwin recorded his observations in a series of notebooks and labelled them with letters of the alphabet. The Cambridge University Library had several of his notebooks in its Darwin collection.

The two missing notebooks were kept in a small blue box, and were last seen in 2000, when they were taken out to be photographed. In 2001, the librarians found that the box and the priceless notebooks were missing. Luckily, the library had taken pictures of the notebooks' pages, so the information wasn't completely lost.

At first, the library staff thought the box had been put back in the wrong place, so they made a huge effort to find it. They searched through the 10 million items in the library, which took several years.

Finally, in 2020 Jessica Gardner, the university's director of library services officially reported the missing notebooks as stolen. The police were notified, and the notebooks were listed in the database of stolen artworks.

Now, a long time after they were reported as stolen, the manuscripts were mysteriously returned. A bright pink gift bag appeared in a public area just outside Dr Gardner's office. Inside was a plain brown envelope simply addressed "Librarian, Happy Easter, X". After the police had examined the package, library workers were able to open it. The envelope contained the blue box with both notebooks inside. They carefully studied the notebooks and were pleased to learn that they were not damaged.

Dr Gardner said she was "delighted" and relieved to have them back. Cambridgeshire Police said they would continue their investigation and asked the public to come forward with any information.

0) Darwin offered his notebooks to the Cambridge University Library before he died.

21) The missing notebooks were the same size and colour.

22) It was not discovered immediately that the notebooks were missing.

23) The police were informed two years after the notebooks had been stolen.

24) The mysterious package with the notebooks was sent to Dr Gardner's home address.

25) The package was opened at the police station.

26) The notebooks were in their original box.

27) There weren't any missing pages in either of the notebooks.

28) The handwritten message on the envelope is being examined by experts.

29) The police have closed the case as unsolved.

- Your task is to write the missing words on the dotted lines (10-18) after the text.
- Use only one word in each gap.
- There is an example (0) at the beginning.

THE THAMES FROST FAIRS

Between 1600 and 1814, it was (0) _____ uncommon for the River Thames to freeze over for up to two months. One reason (10) _____ this was that Britain was locked in what is now known (11) _____ the 'Little Ice Age'.

Although these extreme winters often brought famine and death, local Londoners decided to make (12) _____ most of it and set up the Thames Frost Fairs. In fact, between 1607 and 1814 there were a total of seven major fairs, as (13) _____ as several smaller ones.

The first recorded frost fair was during the winter of 1607/1608. During December the ice had been hard enough (14) _____ allow people to walk on it, but it was not until January when (15) _____ became so thick that people started setting up camp on it. There were football pitches, bowling matches, fruit-sellers, shoemakers, barbers… even a pub or two. To (16) _____ the shopkeepers warm, there were even fires within their tents!

By the 1800's the climate had started to warm and the last ever London Frost Fair (17) _____ place in January 1814. Although only lasting for five days, this was (18) _____ of the largest fairs on record. Thousands of people turned up every day, and there was every possible form of entertainment.

- Then write the appropriate form of these words on the dotted lines after the text.
- There might be cases when you do not have to change the word in brackets.
- Use only one word for each gap.
- There is an example (0) at the beginning.

MEASURING TIME

The Sumerians were the first to measure time by (0) _____ (divide) their day into 12 units. They used water clocks to keep time. Later on, the (19) _____ (Egypt) also divided the day into 12 equal units. As they used the rising and setting of the sun, the units varied in (20) _____ (long) according to the season, helping them adjust their lifestyles to the changing needs of the agricultural calendar.

Due to the need for greater accuracy, more accurate devices – (21) _____ (include) sundials, candle clocks and mechanical clocks – had been developed by the 17th century.

As railroads spread across the United States, people began to think about regulating time to international standards. In the early 1800s, every city in the US had its own time zone – there were a surprising 300 local sun-times in (22) _____ (use). Since running trains to a (23) _____ (rely) timetable with this system was impossible, national time zones were introduced in the US in 1883. The international 24-hour time-zone system, which serves as a time reference for the world, was established the (24) _____ (follow) year with the adoption of Greenwich Meridian Time.

Clocks became more accurate with the (25) _____ (develop) of quartz clocks in the 1920s, and later the amazingly sensitive atomic clocks.

Welcome to the Listening component of the Matura Examination.

The listening material and the instructions are recorded on this CD, and the tasks and instructions are printed in your test booklet.

- There will be three tasks, and every recording will be played twice.
- The tasks will begin with some music, and then you will hear (and you can also read) the instructions to the task.
- This will be followed by a silent period on the CD in order to give you some time to look at the task in your test booklet before hearing the text.
- Then we will play the recording in one piece.
- After that, we will play the recording for the second time, but now in shorter sections and with breaks between the sections in order to give you enough time to write down your answers.

Please note that the first item in each task (marked with a tick [✓]) is always an example.

The whole test is exactly 30 minutes long.

Good luck!

TASK 1

- In this section, you will hear the interesting story of an extraordinary man.
- Your task is to complete the sentences with one word in each gap, using the exact words you hear in the recording.

Fontos tudnivalók

Mindkét feladatot meg kell írni!
A pontozott sorokra kell írni!
Ügyeljen a megadott szószámra! Amennyiben a létrehozott szöveg jelentősen eltér (rövidebb, hosszabb) a megadott szóintervallumtól, az pontlevonással jár.

A feladatlapban nem jelölt források a javítási-értékelési útmutatóban szerepelnek.

Task 1

You are staying in the UK and you have received the following invitation from your old friend, Sam:

LOOK, WHO'S TURNING THE BIG 100!

I would like to invite you to my great-grandma's 100th birthday celebration. You have always been a special friend of mine and also my great-grandma's favourite; and because this is a very special moment for her and for our whole family, I'd really like you to be there to make this occasion all the more memorable.

The celebration will be taking place at the Red Lion Pub in Ascot at 12.00 p.m. on July 1st, and it will be followed by an informal lunch at the same premises.

If you need to know more about the event, you can always get in touch by phone or by email, I will be waiting to hear from you. Your presence at this celebration really means a lot to me and to all my family and I am looking forward to meeting you on this special day.

Hope to see you soon.

Best,

Sam

Write an email of 80-100 words to Sam in which you

- accept the invitation,
- ask about the dress code,
- ask about the present you should bring.

Begin your email like this:

Hi Sam,

Task 2

You have come across the following post on the problem page askaway.com:

> Hi guys, I'm in my first year at uni and the exam period is coming up. One of my courses requires an online exam and I've been talking to a few of my classmates and found out that basically no one is planning to study much for it. On the contrary, they are planning to use anything and everything available (notes, parents, the internet) in order to pass. One of my friends even said, "Why bother to study if you can get good grades by cheating and everybody cheats on online exams anyway?"
>
> Which got me thinking. I do like this subject, and I was planning on studying for the exam, however ridiculous that might sound. The teacher was really nice and fair, and I would feel bad if I wasn't honest. My first idea was to talk to her about this, but then I realised that wouldn't be too nice to the others.
>
> Plus, if everybody cheats, it will result in a much higher average performance, putting anyone who doesn't cheat at a disadvantage.
>
> What do you think?
>
> Alyssa, 19

Write a comment of 100-120 words to Alyssa in which you tell her

- whether you have ever taken an online test or exam,
- what you think about cheating at an online test or exam,
- whether she should talk to her teacher about the situation, and
- what you would do if you were in her shoes.

Start your comment like this.

Alyssa,
