- Write the letters in the white boxes as in the example *(0).

LIVING ON CAMPUS FAQS

Interested in living on campus? Read the list of questions that new students frequently ask.

0) _____

You can select your preference on the housing application. However, as it is only a preference, not all students will receive what they have put down on the application.

1) _____

They will be emailed to you in early July. The email will contain your building, room, and move-in dates.

2) _____

I'm afraid not. As you are the contract owner, the keys need to be signed for and collected by you.

3) _____

Yes, if accommodation is available. However, this cannot be guaranteed, and you may be required to find alternative accommodation before the scheduled move-in date.

4) _____

Bathroom and kitchen essentials, including towels and dishes. The housing assignment email will include a list of recommended items as well as items that are not allowed.

5) _____

Your own bedroom, toilet and shower. The kitchen and communal areas will receive a weekly service by campus staff.

6) _____

No, your contract includes term time and holiday periods, so you do not have to remove your belongings until mid-July.

7) _____

Yes, you can have guests for a maximum of three nights per month free of charge.

8) _____

There are trained student leaders, called Resident Assistants, on campus, who are there for you when you need help academically, socially and personally.

SELFIE BAN FOR TOURISTS IN PORTOFINO

If you're someone who likes to spend time (0) _____ when you go on holiday, then Portofino might not be the best place for you to visit in the summer.

The popular coastal fishing town on the Italian Riviera, which is known for its colourful houses overlooking the sea, has recently introduced no-waiting zones to stop tourists from 'lingering' in popular beauty spots taking pictures. You could now be fined up to 275 euros for (9) _____ , which include the most photogenic hotspots. The move has been taken because these areas have become extremely busy, with many people gathering at peak times during the holiday season.

The Mayor of Portofino, Matteo Viacava, blamed tourists for (10) _____ and traffic jams when stopping to take pictures or posing for selfies.

The measures first came into effect over the Easter weekend, when Portofino was packed with tourists, and the rules will now stay in place until October. As the town is (11) _____ over the summer months, the rules will be in place from morning to 6pm every day.

Portofino isn't the only place that's put a ban on selfies – there are also rules in certain locations in the United States, France and even the UK. Both New York and California banned people by law from (12) _____ and areas where there could be dangerous wild animals in the background, such as tigers and bears. Selfies are also banned in certain areas of the Tower of London, (13) _____ , for security reasons.

- Mark a statement A if it is true according to the article, mark it B if it is false, and mark it C if there isn't enough information in the text to decide if it is true or not.
- Write the letters in the white boxes next to the numbers as in the example *(0).
- A = TRUE B = FALSE C = THE TEXT DOES NOT SAY

'A BIG CRAZY ADVENTURE'

Over the course of nearly one and a half years, teenage cyclist Liam Garner rode through 14 countries, covering more than 32,000 km in the journey of a lifetime from Alaska to Argentina.

In 2021, Liam had recently graduated from high school and was looking for a "crazy adventure". He had previously ridden from Los Angeles to San Francisco, and realized that he could pedal across the continent without much difficulty.

After reading a book by an adventurer who had biked from Oregon to Argentina, Liam decided that he would cycle from the point farthest north in the United States to the most southern point in South America.

Liam spent a month preparing for the trip and getting the equipment. He set off on his mountain bike in August, with just a tent, a sleeping bag, a phone, some portable batteries, a first-aid kit, and extra parts for his bike. Other than some food and water, he didn't have much else. Liam admits that at first his parents were terrified of him taking such a long bike trip, but as he carried on, they became his strongest supporters.

Liam had a riding companion named Logan for eight months of the trip. The two spent over four months biking across Mexico, which was one of Liam's favourite parts of the trip even though they were robbed in the south of the country. He also admitted that he considered giving up because of the extreme heat every single day.

During the journey Liam was robbed several times, got sick, and had an accident that required surgery. But he kept going through rain, sun, heat, cold, deserts and mountains.

Liam finally arrived in Ushuaia, Argentina on January 10, 2023 – 527 days after he started. He was soon joined by his girlfriend Chloe, and the couple are now backpacking their way back to California.

0) Liam was already an experienced cyclist when he started his trip from Alaska to Argentina.

14) Liam had borrowed a book that gave him inspiration for the trip.

15) Liam ran out of food within 3 days.

16) Liam's parents were happy about his plan from the very beginning.

17) Liam met Logan when he was crossing the Mexican border.

18) Despite the difficulties, Liam never thought of giving up.

19) The weather in Mexico was pleasant for riding.

20) Liam suffered an injury during the trip.

21) Liam is not alone during his journey home.

Task 4

- Read the following text about animal cafés in Japan.
- Your task is to match the half sentences based on the information in the text.
- Write the letters (A-H) in the white boxes next to the numbers (22-26) as in the example (0).
- Remember that there are two extra letters that you will not need.

TOKYO'S BEST ANIMAL CAFÉS

Tokyo has a long list of animal cafés. Here are some great spots to visit.

Kotori Café features dozens of colourful parrots, cockatoos and canaries to enjoy afternoon tea with. Don't expect to see them flying around though, as they're mostly kept in cages for hygiene reasons.

Meet the resident capybara and its cat friends at Capyneko Café. The South American native animal and the cats will bring plenty of cuteness to your stressful day. Many of the cats here are rescued and adoptable, so let the staff know if you're interested in giving them a permanent home.

At Mipig Café you can cuddle with adorable miniature piggies. Pet and play with the tiny piglets while sipping a cup of coffee. Note that tickets have to be booked in advance and at least one drink order is required.

Unlike other animal cafés, Dog Heart Café doesn't have a food or drink menu and you either pay to play with the dogs inside or take one out for a 60-minute walk in the nearby park. You may choose the exact dog you wish to walk.

Hachu Café is a bizarre teahouse, where you'll be able to enjoy a cup of tea while a reptilian friend observes you from the safety of its transparent box. You can meet a number of reptiles, including lizards, as well as scorpions, turtles and snakes. There's no cover charge or time limit, – as long as you order a drink.

At ChikuChiku Café cute hedgehogs will welcome you in their tiny dollhouse rooms such as a kitchen, a dining room, or a bedroom. You can feed, touch and take photos of the little cuties in their miniature room-like cages. The entrance fee includes a handful of mealworms to feed to the hedgehogs.

PLAN FOR BIGGEST NESSIE SEARCH IN MORE THAN 50 YEARS

It was 90 years ago that Aldie Mackay, (0) _____ (manage) of the Drumnadrochit hotel, burst into the bar one evening to tell shocked patrons she had just witnessed a "water beast" in Loch Ness.

It was this event that began the modern myth-making around a monster surviving in the depths of the Highland loch – and next weekend (1) _____ (hundred) of Nessie enthusiasts are expected to take part in the biggest organised hunt for the mysterious (2) _____ (create) in 50 years.

Organised by the Loch Ness Centre, volunteers from across the globe will participate in person and online in the largest surface watch, searching for breaks in the water and any strange (3) _____ (move) over a two-day period.

The hunt will involve (4) _____ (equip) that has never been used on Loch Ness before, (5) _____ (include) drones to produce thermal images of the water from the air, as well as a hydrophone to detect acoustic signals beneath the surface.

Search leader Alan McKenna will inform volunteers live from the Loch Ness Centre each morning about what to look out for and how to record findings. He said: "It's our hope to (6) _____ (courage) a new generation of Loch Ness enthusiasts and by (7) _____ (join) this large-scale surface watch, you'll have a real opportunity to personally contribute to this (8) _____ (excite) mystery that has attracted so many people from around the world."

APRIL FOOLS' DAY - NO ONE KNOWS HOW IT BEGAN

Ever wonder where April Fools' Day came (0) ____ ? Well, surprise! Nobody seems (17) _____ know its true origins.

Historians do have some clues, though. In the first place, we do know that April Fools' Day customs date back to (18) _____ least Renaissance Europe, but it's likely the tradition originated long before then. Some historians (19) _____ recently linked April Fools' Day to the ancient Roman festival of "Hilaria", where at (20) _____ end of March, people would come together (21) _____ celebrate the god Attis.

Other historians believe April Fools' Day has its origins in the 16th century, when France switched from the Julian calendar to the Gregorian calendar. The Julian calendar began in March and the New Year (22) _____ celebrated on March 31. By switching to the Gregorian calendar, the New Year would now (23) _____ on January 1.

News traveled slowly back then, and not (24) _____ knew when to celebrate the New Year or was willing to change. Those (25) _____ continued to celebrate in the spring were often ridiculed and made fun of.

Task 1

You are a visiting student at the University of Iceland, Reykjavik, studying Icelandic language and culture. You would like to take a part-time job and you have found the following advertisement:

Part-time assistant lifeguards wanted at Blue Lagoon

Would you like to join our team at Blue Lagoon as an assistant lifeguard?

Assistant lifeguards are key members of the Blue Lagoon team. They maintain constant surveillance of the pool and its surroundings while on duty. Apart from this, assistants can choose to escort groups of tourists throughout their stay in Blue Lagoon and provide guidence and information about the facilities available. They can also entertain groups of children in the children's quarter by organising games and competitions, or they can serve drinks and refreshments in the swim-up bar.

An assistant lifeguard must be mature and reliable with good communication skills in English.

We provide you with opportunities to improve your competencies through training. Our employees are provided with gym memberships and discounts on various goods. We also operate a bus for the 45-minute commute between Reykjavík and Blue Lagoon.

Task 2

You received the following email from your Dutch friend, Max:

> We have this English teacher, Ms Hunt, who is an exceptional teacher and also a nice person. So we decided that after the final exams we would give her a present, not the usual flowers and chocolate stuff but something more personal that she would really like. As she is a great fan of Edgar Allen Poe, we eventually decided to get her an old edition of Poe's poems, which I found in an online bookshop. You know the sort of thing, thick, hardback, all leather and gold, quite pricey too, just perfect. I volunteered to order it to make sure it would come through by the time of the farewell party. It was early April so we had plenty of time.
>
> Can you imagine my horror when the other day a friend of mine casually asked me whether everything was ok with the book – THE BOOK I had completely forgotten about, the book I had never ordered!!! I went back to the page where I had originally found it but it wasn't there any longer. Nor was it available anywhere else; apparently the copy I had found and missed was the only one in the universe.
>
> I'm well aware that I completely screwed it up, no need to remind me of that, but can you think of anything I could do now to put it right? So that my friends, who trusted me, won't hate me for ever and ever? The exams are over and the party will be next Saturday, so it's pretty urgent, please help, please!

Write an email of 100-120 words to Max in which you tell him

- what you think of the situation,
- whether you have ever forgotten something important,
- how you think his friends will react,
- what could be done now.
